Declaration about intellectual property rights

The author, editor or person authorized to represent the collective of authors confirms, by his/her signature below, that in writing/preparing the publication ....., he/she has acted in accordance with the legal provisions governing intellectual property rights, in particular copyright law and industrial law, as well as legal provisions governing trade secrets and personal protection rights. During the process of writing and editing, he/she has also respected the obligations the University of West Bohemia in Pilsen has towards its partners, in particular those arising from contractual relationships with these partners, including the handling of confidential information or information of a commercial nature. The author furthermore declares that, if he/she has included in his/her work other works or extracts thereof which are protected by intellectual property rights, he/she has done so with the consent of the author or other authorized person, or the use of the work is permitted by law. In all such cases, the author has specified the name of the work used and indicated the source text.

The author, editor or person authorized to represent the collective of authors further confirms, by his/her signature below, that if his/her declaration concerning any of the facts above is untrue, he/she will be fully liable for any claim for damages or any other claims.
